

Runtime contract: admissibility is checked before execution; evidence can improve verification, but only governance can authorize mutation.